

Nasi Ispani is a job fair and recruitment campaign launched by the Gauteng Provincial Government in South Africa in 2023. The campaign aims to create employment opportunities for young people in the province, and to raise awareness about existing job openings.

The name Nasi Ispani is a colloquial expression in the Zulu language that means "Here is a job." The campaign was launched on June 16, 2023, which is Youth Day in South Africa, and it coincided with the start of the application process for the 8,000 jobs that were being advertised.

The jobs on offer were in a variety of sectors, including education, health, social development, and infrastructure. Applicants could apply online or in person at one of the 100 Nasi Ispani recruitment centres that were set up across the province.

The Nasi Ispani campaign was a success, with over 300,000 applications being received. Of these, over 10,000 were short-listed for interviews, and over 5,000 people were eventually offered jobs.

The Nasi Ispani campaign was a positive initiative that helped to create employment opportunities for young people in Gauteng. It also raised awareness about the importance of education and skills development, and it showed that the provincial government is committed to reducing unemployment.

Here are some of the benefits of the Nasi Ispani campaign:

- It created employment opportunities for young people in Gauteng.
- It raised awareness about existing job openings.
- It showed that the provincial government is committed to reducing unemployment.
- It encouraged young people to pursue education and skills development.

The Nasi Ispani campaign is a good example of how the government can work with the private sector to create employment opportunities. It is also a good example of how government can use technology to reach a wider audience. The Nasi Ispani portal was an easy-to-use online platform that made it easy for job seekers to find and apply for jobs.
